

OUR CLASSROOM newsletter

JANUARY 25'

Mrs. Noyes

✉ inoyes@msad54.org

☎ 474-3901

UPCOMING EVENTS:

- January 14th-16th Reading NWEA
- January 20th MLK Jr. Day-No School
- January 22nd Math NWEA
- January 29th Early Release

OUR LEARNING SNAPSHOT:

LITERACY:

- This month we will read and compare several Jan Brett books.

MATH:

- We have moved into division and students have realized how much easier division is when they know their multiplication facts.

SPELLING:

- For the next several weeks we will be focusing on prefixes and suffixes.

WRITING:

- Students will be learning how to write a personal narrative.

NOTES:

I hope everyone had a wonderful and restful Christmas vacation! Our time between now and February vacation is jam packed. Students will take the winter Maine Through Year assessments. You may have noticed it is spread out over several days. We are taking the test for 30 minutes each day to hopefully prevent test fatigue, as well as keep some scheduling normalcy.

PRACTICE @ HOME:

Students have now learned tips and tricks for all the multiplication facts. Now each individual student will be working on facts they need to learn each week. They will stay on that factor until they master it, then move onto the next. I have attached a spreadsheet to this newsletter that tells you what factors your child has learned. My thought is that you can track and celebrate their progress at home as well.